

Calves Week day 2

Calves week OD Neill Prenderville certainly got his fleet into the good feel mood, when he requested over the VHF that all competitors smile for the RTE camera crew covering the event prior to the start of the second race of the series in Schull. With the northerly wind prevailing for the second day, the various courses took all the fleet through Long Island sound and around Goat Island before round various marks in Roaring water Bay.

In class 1 IRC Paul O Higgins "RockabilV1 continues to dominate the fleet with another clear victory while in Echo is was Gabby Hogan's "Growler" who took the trophy in a fleet where event sponsor Frank Whelan was forced to retire following an incident with Leslie Parnell's "Black Velvet".

In class 2 Fergus Coughlans "Jedi" had a clean sweep in both IRC and Echo ahead of "Bad Company" from the Royal Cork and Henry Hogs "Lisador" from the Garrykennedy Sailing Club.

In class 3 IRC, Dungarvan boat "Seconds Count" had a tight victory over "Muskateer" from Cobh, who also had to settle for second in Echo from Richard Lords "Blue Peregrine".

Class 4 IRC was won by Richard Hanley's "Saoirse" from KInsale, while Simon Nelsons "Witchcraft" was victorious in Echo.

White sail 1 was dominated by Aidan Heffernan's "Indulgence", with victory in both divisions, while Andrew Mackey's "Lornadrew" won White Sail 2.

At a crowded presentation on Schulls Main Street, commodore Pat Maher announced that the traditional Fastnet race was postponed until Friday due to the light weather conditions forecasted for Thursday.
